PRICE TWO CENTS

PROGRESSIVE TO SUCCEED SHERMAN

Republicans Will Name Other Than Standpatter as Taft's Team-mate

BORAH AND CUMMINS NAMED

Hadley of Missouri and Victor Rosewater Are Also Mentioned

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—At national republican headquarters, a member of the inner-council said that Vice President Sherman's successor on the ticket undoubtedly would be a man of "progressive tendencies." The following three names were mentioned:

Gov. Hadley of Missouri.
Senator Borah of Idaho.
Senator Cummins of Iowa.

Want Progressive Votes

"In case of a deadlock in the electoral college," it was explained, "the election would go to the house, and then in the event of a deadlock there, which seems likely, it would go to the senate. It would devolve upon the senate to elect one of the vice presidential candidates to the presidency. The election then would depend upon the votes of one of the progressive senators, which makes necessary the selection of a man of progressive tendencies as Sherman's successor."

The call for a special meeting of the republican national committee, to be held in Chicago a week after election, to select a successor to James Sherman, as the republican candidate for vice president, was telegraphed to all committeemen today. Chairman Hillis said in connection with the call:

"No difficulty, or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday, because the votes then to be cast are for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice-president and the death of Mr. Sherman, therefore, does not affect the validity of the election of the electors."

Hillis said no names had been mentioned so far as he knew in connection with the action to be taken by the committee.

Rosewater Mentioned

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 31.—Regarding a widely circulated report that he would be a candidate for the republican vice presidential nomination succeeding the late vice president, Victor Rosewater, former chairman of the republican national committee, said today:

"I have authorized no such report, and do not wish to be considered in the race. I am surprised that I should be mentioned for this office or any other."

SUES BULL MOOSER

STERLING, Ill., Oct. 31.—Suit for $15,000 damages was filed today by Patrick H. O'Donnell, state's attorney of Boone county, against Dr. Geo. C. Tallender, one of the senior leaders of the progressive party in the county. It is understood the suit is based upon remarks made by the progressive leader at a public meeting.

ALLEGED SLAYER TAKEN IN LIMA

Charles Conway Who Is Thought to Have Killed Sophie Singer Is Captured

CLAIMS IGNORANCE OF CRIME

Professes Astonishment at News that Baltimore Heiress Has Been Slain

LIMA, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Admitting their identity, but denying any knowledge of the murder of Miss Sophie Singer, Baltimore heiress, in Chicago, in connection with which the police all over the United States have been searching for them, Chas. Conway, one-legged high diver, and Beatrice Ryall, his wife, were taken into custody by the police today.

The couple were arrested at the Cadillac hotel, a second class hostelry, where they had registered. A policeman observed the couple alight from a late train. The slight limp of Conway excited his suspicion and the arrest followed.

"What?" ejaculated Conway when informed that he was wanted in connection with Miss Singer's murder. "Is Sophie dead?"

The Ryall woman displayed great grief, and became hysterical when told of the suspicion she and her husband were under.

Lima authorities had been asked to look for Conway, for the reason that his mother, Mrs. Kate Kramer, lives here.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—"I hope Sophie's slayers are justly punished," was the comment made by Wm. R. Warthen on learning of the capture of Charles Conway and Miss Beatrice Ryall, alleged Baltimore heiress' slayer.

Four detectives who had been sent to Richmond, Ind., on a report that the couple had been seen there, were ordered to Lima to take charge of Conway and the Ryall woman.

PERKINS ORGANIZED TRUST.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—That Geo. W. Perkins, former partner of J. P. Morgan, was the leading spirit in the organization of the International Harvester company, was the substance of the testimony today of John G. Glessner, vice president and director in the alleged Harvester trust. He told Special Examiner Robert S. Taylor that Perkins chose all the officers and directors and engineered all the details of the organization.

BOY SHOTS BROTHER

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Chas. Johnson, 13, today shot and killed his ten-year-old brother, while they were playing. The older boy threatened to kill his brother as he advanced toward him and emptied two barrels at him at short range not knowing that it was loaded.

ADMITS TWO MURDERS

MAN CONFESSES KILLING HUSBAND OF AFFINITY; SHE SAYS SHE KILLED LOVER'S WIFE

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 31.—A strange case was revealed here today when Albert L. Watson was sentenced to death for the murder of A. C. Bailey. Watson confessed that he killed Bailey.

Mrs. Bailey, wife of the murdered man, is to be tried next week for the murder of Mrs. Watson, wife of the condemned murderer. Following the murder of her husband, Mrs. Bailey has confessed she killed Mrs. Watson, so that she could wed Watson.

INTERVENTION IN BALKANS IS DUE

Powers Plan to Step in to Keep Bulgars Out of Constantinople

FEAR CHRISTIAN MASSACRE

Mohammedans Incensed at Reverses Are Thought Liable to Start Butchery

PARIS, Oct. 31.—Shall the Bulgarians be permitted to enter Constantinople?

The powers say "No." The Bulgarians reply that they will enter it whether the powers like it or not. There was every indication today that they will be able to do so, so far as anything the sultan can do is concerned.

The powers have not yet said officially that the Bulgarians must keep out, nor have the Bulgarians officially refused to do so. Such, however, was said on highly diplomatic authority, are the respective attitudes of the two interests. It was agreed that a very tense situation is likely to develop.

Once in Constantinople, Czar Ferdinand can make his own terms with the sultan. He does not want the powers to limit his demands. The powers have their own interests to safeguard, and do not propose to have Bulgaria jeopardizing them.

The diplomats of western Europe are reported to have practically agreed on a program of intervention and may be expected to act at any time. Serbia, Montenegro and Greece are supposed to be willing to accept this action, but Bulgaria objects. Even Russia was understood to oppose permitting Ferdinand actually to reach the Bosphorus.

The powers themselves will have trouble keeping the Bulgarians' army out of the Turkish capital. Doubtless the Turks can do this by concentrating a war fleet in the Bosphorus and threatening bombardment, but this would be a very ticklish step. Messages were being exchanged in hot haste today between the various chancelleries.

Military experts here said they thought there might be another week or two of fighting left in the Turks, but they believed a victory for the allies a certainty.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—That Adrianople raised the white flag following a general assault yesterday by the Bulgarians was reported in a dispatch received here today from Sofia. The statement was entirely unconfirmed.

Predict Massacres.

VRANJE, Serbia, Oct. 31.—Reports that a general massacre of foreigners in Turkey is imminent were accepted as true here today. Captive Turkish officers state that if Turkish reverses continue, nothing can prevent a slaughter by the maddened Mohammedans of every Christian in the country, no matter of what nationality. The Serbian and Greek inhabitants of villages in Turkish territory are already being butchered wholesale, it was asserted.

Turks Reported Beaten.

SOFIA, Oct. 31.—The Turks have been completely routed at Lule Burgas according to an official announcement issued here today. They are fleeing, the statement asserted, with Bulgarian cavalry in pursuit. The war office here estimates the number of fleeing Turks at 200,000.

Powers Are Angry.

BELGRADE, Oct. 31.—Strong resentment was displayed in government circles here today over reports that Austria and Russia have commissioned Roumania to veto what may be considered excessive demands by the Balkan allies for territorial acquisitions in the event of victory over Turkey. Official anger was further inflamed by additional reports that in return for its good offices in this matter, the Roumanians are to receive a share of whatever territory the allies may extort from the Turks.

Roumania has not only kept out of the fight, but plainly shows its Turkish sympathies and if Turkey is partitioned, it was warmly asserted, the Roumanians will get nothing at all, no matter what Austria and Russia may wish.

Austria Deals with Serbs.

VIENNA, Oct. 31.—Austria is negotiating directly with Serbia concerning a division of the Turkish territory for which both countries are greedy, according to reports current in diplomatic circles here today.

The Vienna government is not so jealous of Bulgaria, Montenegro or Greece, as of Serbia, because the three countries first named are not so anxious for territorial acquisitions in localities which Austria considers its own special sphere of influence. Austria and Serbia, however, want practically the same districts.

Fighting Continues.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Fighting between the Turks and Bulgarians was still in progress at the time the latest messages received here today were dispatched from Constantinople and Sofia.

From a mass of almost hopelessly conflicting reports, military experts

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN AND HIS HOME IN UTICA

Vice President and Mrs. Sherman and their home at Utica, N. Y.

James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, and for years a prominent figure in New York state and national politics, died at 9:42 last night, at his home in Utica, N. Y., where he has been seriously ill for nearly a year. His physicians declare that exposure against their orders when he went to register a few days ago brought on the relapse which caused his death.

SAYS HOCKIN WAS DETECTIVE'S SPY

Secretary-Treasurer of the Union Gave Burns First Tip, Witness Declares

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—It was Herbert S. Hockin, indicted secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers who gave Wm. J. Burns his first "tip" that Orville E. McManigal and James B. McNamara blew up the Los Angeles Times building and killed 21 persons, according to J. A. G. Badorf, formerly of New York, assistant counsel for the National Erectors' association, who was today's star witness in the dynamite conspiracy trial.

Badorf also asserted that it was Hockin's information that "turned up" the 45 members of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers now on trial. The witness also said that Mr. Hockin got into communication with Burns a few weeks following the Los Angeles explosion. The labor leader, Badorf said, informed Burns that he might plead guilty himself, if indicted, but that he would never take the stand against his associates.

THIEF STICKS GUN UNDER NOSE OF JEWELER AND MAKES OFF WITH TRAY OF DIAMONDS

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 31.—At the noon hour today a lone robber entered the jewelry store of Andrew Stauver on Market street in the main business section of the city, and pushing a big under the manager's nose secured a tray of diamonds and escaped in the crowd. The loss of jewelry will amount to several thousand dollars.

SNOW IN TEXAS.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 31.—Snow is falling in west Texas today and the temperature is dropping rapidly throughout the state.

Friday Night Not Saturday

The republican meeting to be held at Concordia hall will be Friday night, November 1, at 8 o'clock, according to announcement made at the republican headquarters this morning.

This announcement was made following the discovery that an error in the letters sent to voters in that section of the city called the meeting for Saturday instead of Friday night.

The Concordia meeting is to be one of the most important held to date, in view of the fact that it will in reality be the opening of Mr. Esch's campaign in the city for re-election to congress. Senator Otto Bossard and Assemblyman John E. McConnell will speak with Mr. Esch, and state and national issues will be discussed.

On the same night a meeting will be held at Fielstad's hall on the North side, with the same speakers, the gentlemen alternating between the two places.

TAFT PROCLAIMS SHERMAN'S DEATH

Government Business to Stop when Vice President Is Buried Saturday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—President Taft at noon today issued a public proclamation notifying the nation of Vice President Sherman's death, and requesting that all public officials pay special tribute to his memory on the day of the funeral. All government business will probably be suspended on that day.

Notified that Vice President Sherman's funeral would probably be held Saturday afternoon, President Taft today cancelled his engagement to speak at the unveiling ceremonies of the Washington monument at Newark, N. J., for that day, and prepared to leave Friday night for Utica.

Orders were issued from the war and navy departments today to all army and navy posts and all war vessels to half mast their flags.

Senator Bacon, president pro-tem of the senate, telegraphed Sergeant-at-arms Ransdell, giving him authority to make full arrangements for Vice President Sherman's funeral.

Speaker Champ Clark of the house sent a telegram here to the sergeant-at-arms of the house appointing a special committee of representatives to attend the funeral. It is probable that the speaker himself will attend.

The supreme court, it is expected, will adjourn today for several days, out of respect to the vice president's memory.

The Proclamation was as follows:

"To the People of the United States: James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, died at his home in Utica, N. Y., at 9:42 o'clock on the eve of October 30, 1912. In his death the nation has lost one of its most illustrious citizens, and one of its most efficient and faithful servants. Elected at an early age to the mayoralship of his native city, the continued confidence of his community was shown by his election for ten terms as a representative in the national congress. As a legislator he at once took and retained high rank, and displayed such attributes of upright and wise statesmanship as to command him to the people of the United States for the second highest office within their gift. As presiding officer of the senate, he won the respect and esteem of all for his fairness and impartiality. His private life was noble and good. His genial disposition and attractiveness of character endeared him to all whose privilege it was to know him. His devotion to the best interests of his native land will endear his memory to his fellow countrymen.

"In respect to the memory and the various services of the high official and patriotic public servant, I direct that on the day of the funeral the executive offices of the United States shall be closed and all posts and stations of the navy and army shall display the national flag at half mast and that the representatives of the United States in foreign countries shall pay appropriate tribute to the illustrious dead for a period of 30 days. (Signed) WM. H. TAFT.

"By A. A. Adey, Acting President."

PREACHER-BANDIT SENTENCED.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 31.—Howard Edwards, of Rockford, Ill., the preacher-bandit who held up a Louisville & Nashville train several months ago, was sentenced to serve 25 years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., today.

VICE PRESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT HOME IN UTICA

Bright's Disease and Complications of Heart Weakness Cause His Death

SACRIFICE TO PARTY LOYALTY

Physicians Say Exertions on Notification Day and Trip to Register Are to Blame

TO HOLD FUNERAL SATURDAY

President Taft and High Officials of National Government Expected to Be Present

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Vice-President James S. Sherman died at 9:42 o'clock last night.

Stricken with Bright's disease, complicated by heart weakness, the vice president had lain at the point of death for many days.

Little hope for his recovery had been entertained since last Friday, when he suffered a relapse.

This city was in deep mourning today for the death of its foremost citizen, James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice-president of the United States. Flags were at half staff everywhere, and black draperies enshrouded the

Davies Praises Sherman
• CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Referring to the death of Vice President Sherman, Jos. E. Davies, chairman of the western headquarters of the democratic national committee, today said: "The death of our vice president removes from public life a man who gave many years of service to the country. Many things are said in the heat of a campaign, but I have not read or heard any reference to Mr. Sherman which questioned his sincerity or the integrity of his private and official life."

public buildings, and most of the big business establishments. As mayor of the city, and later as congressman he had been identified with the affairs of the community for more than thirty years, and the members of the family have been asked to consent to a public funeral. The date will probably be Saturday afternoon.

It was considered certain that the funeral would take place from Old Dutch Reformed church, of which Sherman had been a trustee and treasurer for many years. The tentative plans provided for the attendance of the president of the United States, if possible, and the majority of the senate over which he presided for the last four years and of the house, in which he had been one of the leaders so long.

Sacrifice to Party

The doctors in attendance on the vice-president, declared today he sacrificed himself to his party loyalty. It was against their wishes that he exerted himself on notification day, and it was agreed that fatal illness dated from then although he had been sick for a year. Then when he insisted on going to the polls to register last week he exerted himself to such an extent that the doctors were unable to repair him.

Hundreds of telegrams of sympathy have been received in the Sherman home, including messages from President Taft, Gov. Wilson and Col. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Sherman was reported prostrated at the Sherman home today, and the announcement of the complete funeral arrangements waited on her approval.

Funeral Saturday

Harry M. Devendorf, secretary to the vice-president, said that although time would not be definitely fixed until Mrs. Sherman could be consulted he believed the funeral would take place on Saturday afternoon. He stated that the time would be fixed with a view to the convenience of President Taft and the members of the senate and the house. Interment will be in the new Sherman mausoleum in Forest Hill cemetery here.

Mrs. Sherman's health has been poor some time, and the family feared the result of the shock of her husband's death. It was said that she had had some rest after daylight, and was a trifle more composed than immediately following her husband's death.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 3 o'clock, Rev. Wm. Stricker, professor of Hamilton college, officiating, assisted by Rev. Dr. Louis H. Holden. The active pallbearers will be employees of the Utica Trust and Deposit company, of which Sherman was president.

The honorary pallbearers were selected by Vice President Sherman himself several months ago, and the

ALL SIDES OF POLITICS

Editor of The Tribune, La Crosse, Wis. Dear Sir:

In recent issue of your paper I find an article entitled "All Sides of Politics."

Will you kindly give a little space to the prohibition party?

You are doubtless well acquainted with the work and aim of this party. It is the only political organization which champions the one greatest moral, political and economic question before the people.

For several years the party has carried on a ceaseless war against the greatest curse of America—the legalized liquor traffic. It has said to the people and is being said today that the only solution of the liquor problem is a political party.

Every possible method that man could invent, except the party plan, has been tried during the last three hundred and fifty years. Moral suasion, license, high license, government ownership, local option and numerous other "remedies" have been tried but they have not succeeded in checking the growth of the miserable traffic. The time has come when the one right method can be and should be given a fair trial.

We are today in the midst of one of the greatest political campaigns in the history of our country. Party lines are so badly broken and mixed that conscientious voters are troubled to know what to do.

In the midst of all this confusion the liquor question stands out clearly as the one greatest issue—one that must be settled before any other issue can be attended to successfully. It has been beaten off for years while political parties have been breaking up by their own corruption.

The prohibition candidates for national, state and county offices, are not seeking office for the sake of personal gain or honor. To many of them an election and office would mean a personal loss and sacrifice. They are the representatives of a party that advocates great and right principles in government and they take this way to advance the party and the principles for which it stands.

The candidates in La Crosse county represent a wide range of occupations for there are one miller, one merchant, two editors, one preacher, one student, one farmer, one salesman, one carpenter and one manufacturer.

In conclusion, I invite all to join us in this great struggle for good government—the most valuable thing to strive for and necessary to the protection of our homes and free institutions.

Its deadliest enemy is the liquor traffic. The Christian people of this country must unite to destroy this evil. There is but one party and place where they can get together and that is in the prohibition party at the ballot box. Will you meet us there and longer "throw away" your vote?

Cordially yours,

OLIVER NEEDHAM,
La Crosse county chairman.

If one-half of the threats against the trusts by the democratic orators will be executed they should certainly be an object of pity. Most of these orators are lawyers and they will, lawyer fashion, shake hands with our trust magnates when the verdict of the American people is rendered and congratulate the kings of industry in the event of democratic success at the state and national election. The best proof that nobody interested in trust rule takes their attacks seriously is the present capitalist so-called prosperity. If there was the least fear of any disturbance of industry by the election of a democratic government the money interests would have the country in a panic by this time in order to effect the defeat of the democratic party and Taft, as we all know, has proven to be a faithful servant of the trust, so there is no danger to trust rule from that direction either.

Now as to Teddy and the third party. They call it progressive, which by the way is progressive only in the methods of fooling the American people and whose only mission is to head off the real progressive and the socialist party. His election would be the very best that could happen in the interest of private monopoly. If the Perkins-Roosevelt scheme of legalizing trust-robbery could be established, the shackles of monopoly would be complete indeed. We might as well legalize safeblowing or highway robbery so as not to create any hard feeling on the part of the small thieves being an object of discrimination.

It is a wonder why the majority of the people never learn to profit by past experience. It is an undisputable fact that the capitalistic political parties are and always have been receiving the great bulk of their financial support from the money kings and notwithstanding this we find these parties supported at every election by the great mass of wealth-producing voters, voters who thus foolishly put their stamp of approval upon the plunder of the proceeds of their labor. It is high time in order to avoid industrial and political despotism for these voters to cast their lot with the only party, which is backed entirely by an organized army of dues-paying members of working men, the socialist party. How can there be any doubt on the part of workingmen that this party should not represent the interest of workingmen, when the party itself is dominated by these? The socialist party stands for the government ownership of trusts and such ownership is fast becoming a settled conviction in the minds of all honest men as the only remedy and solution of the trust evil. The reason why these do not actively support the socialist party must be found in the fact that they expect a few reforms through the capitalist parties while they are waiting for the majority to become ripe for accepting the socialist idea. The majority is ripe now, and as to the reforms two or three million votes for socialism at the coming election would make the capitalist sit up and take notice. Such a vote would not only insure the retaining of the reform measures now upon the statutes but also be productive of more even if the socialists does not elect a single candidate to office. Ponder these facts Mr. workingman.

JOHN MARQUET.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAIRMEN EXHIBITION BOUT

Editor Tribune:

I notice the republican chairman, J. E. Higbee, in his speeches has found what he thinks is one flaw in my legislative record in saying that I voted against the workmen's compensation act. Personally, I think this act has a great many good qualities. However, I do not think that it protects the laboring man as much as it should as the minimum amount that his family can receive in case of his death by accident under this law is three thousand dollars while under the old law it was anywhere from five to ten thousand dollars. However, the main objection that I had to this was the way it was being administered creating a new commission made up practically to give some lame politician a job. This commission in round figures is costing the state at the present time eighty-five thousand dollars.

Before I was elected to the last legislature I made a statement saying that I would not vote for any measure that created a new commission and we democrats in the legislature offered an amendment to this bill providing for the carrying out of the same by the county judge and it could have been done without any expense whatever and without going into detail it could have been done without going into any expense whatever. The tax payers' money that is being spent for administering this law is absolutely being thrown away.

Mr. Higbee also says that I am a reactionary. I want it distinctly understood that I am a democrat who doesn't need anything before or after my name to tell where I stand. Mr. Higbee is supporting Mr. W. H. Taft whose record is known to everyone. He is also supporting Francis E. McGovern who says that the reason for bolting Mr. Taft is that Mr. Taft stole his nomination and that Taft is a reactionary. He is supporting Francis E. McGovern for the main reason that they don't want the books of the state opened up and examined into. Our state administration instead of being a government for the people has worked itself into a political machine. Mr. McGovern made his run at the primaries as a republican and after it was too late to nominate another candidate he went over to Roosevelt and the Bull Moose party. He certainly could not expect any democrat to support or vote for McGovern.

M'CONNELL STANDS TEST OF ANALYSIS

We assert without hesitation that the re-election of J. E. McConnell to represent the First assembly district
is one of the two most important considerations of the present campaign.

As a foundation for our argument,
let us investigate the position which the assemblyman now occupies in the state assembly.

Mr. McConnell is chairman of two important committees—the judiciary committee and the committee on revision. He is a member of five other committees, most of them important:
The committee on cities, on parks, on legislative procedure, on the Stout institute and on the Mississippi boundary. The last two are joint committees.

During the 1911 session Mr. Mc-Connell was floor leader for the republicans, and in variety and importance his activities equaled those of any other member of the assembly.
He is indisputably the logical candidate for speaker, and his election to this important office is regarded as a foregone conclusion by well informed members.

The occupation of so conspicuous
a place in the organization of the assembly naturally imposes burdens
and presents opportunities. Burdens and opportunities have come to Mr.
McConnell, and it is our purpose today to analyze his record and see how he has borne the burdens and availed himself of the opportunities.

We are indebted to Mr. J. E. Higbee for timely comment calling attention to one fact in relation to a phase of Mr. McConnell's activities.
Mr. Higbee points out that Mr. Mc-Connell was an active participant in the passage of all of the laws which the Trades and Labor council recently singled out as of such peculiar value to laboring men as to warrant their endorsement.

Let us pause to draw a comparison between Mr. McConnell's support of these measures and the open hostility to them expressed in campaign speeches by Mr. C. L. Hood, who seeks to succeed Mr. McConnell
in the assembly.

The laws specifically mentioned are laws providing for: (1) safety methods in building; (2) the 8-hour day
in government work; (3) safety appliances for machinery; (4) restricting child labor; (5) limiting working hours for women; (6) workmen's compensation law. With the exception of the second in this list every one of these laws would be utterly useless but for the industrial commission, an organization created for the very purpose of their enforcement.

Not only did Mr. McConnell vote
for all the above laws, but he voted for the commission to make them effective.

Mr. Hood, on the other hand,
scolds at the workmen's compensation
law and says he would, if elected,
work for the repeal of the commission. In other words, he would render worthless five laws so beneficial

to labor that the Trades and Labor council passed a resolution warning
the legislature not to harm them.

Whom do the laboring men of La Crosse propose to select as their representative in the legislature this winter: Mr. McConnell, who helped secure laws giving labor a square deal, or Mr. Hood, who says he would destroy these laws by destroying the commission that executes
them?

We are content to rest our case
before the court of labor upon the above showing.

And now we come to that qualification which, it seems to us, makes
Mr. McConnell peculiarly valuable as a legislator.

There are in every assembly district a few men whose interest in the larger class of business causes them to view with misgiving those legislative changes that attend a period of reconstruction. These men,
if they are wise, know that irrespective of whether Mr. McConnell is re-elected, there will be a legislative majority at Madison pledged to continue the work of protecting working people in life and limb and the emol-ments of labor, of restricting capital to profits that are fair and conditions that are just. They expect this, and therefore their next concern
must be that the changes shall be so made as to give the needed relief
with as little embarrassment to business as possible. It is to their interest that laws affecting business
shall be drawn by men whose vision is not narrowed to one side, one object, men who know the importance to both capital and labor of harvesting the crop without wrecking the reaper.

Right here is where we believe J.
E. McConnell, more than any other man in the assembly, possesses characteristics of especial worth. His is a reflective disposition, given to deliberate analysis. Kindly disposed to all men, firm although conciliatory,
a scholar of practical bent, uninfluenced by prejudice, he sees with a clear vision the thing to be done,
and is never satisfied with any but
the best way to do it.

Men of this sort, who in seeking that which is good abhor that which is destructive, make for the safety of our legislature in times of reconstruction. They are invaluable, and those who know him know that Mr.
McConnell typifies constructive statesmanship of the kind so much needed in present emergencies. In our opinion the wisdom of businessmen makes him their candidate.

La Crosse cannot afford to dispense with the services of the assemblyman who was instrumental in giving us the state normal school. We have discussed its importance elsewhere.
Suffice it to say that this institution
pours at least $200,000.00 a year into the lap of La Crosse, for circulation through its business channels. It cannot afford to surrender the high place it now holds in the councils of the assembly, or to forego the advantage and honor of furnishing the next speaker. It cannot afford to deprive the state of the services of an official now intimately identified with several of the most important of our partly worked out problems.

This is a contest between a positive, constructive optimist and a negative, destructive pessimist.

La Crosse is progressive, not reactionary, and we do not question
the verdict. We expect that a substantial majority of citizens will place
a cross in the little square after the name of J. E. McConnell next Tuesday.

DOG IN MANGER OR SNAKE IN THE GRASS

There recently appeared in La Follette's Weekly the three last chapters of the senator's autobiography.
They deal with the facts surrounding La Follette's acceptance of the progressive candidacy, and they incorporate these significant assertions:

That La Follette consented to run
because there was a unanimity of opinion to the effect that, although it was a forlorn hope, the progressives could not refrain from presenting a candidate without consenting
to the commitment of the republican party to the reactionary Taft and what he stands for.

That he consented only upon the assurance of Roosevelt and Roosevelt's intimate friends that the colonel would under no circumstances
become a rival candidate.

That he refused to enter into any entanglement with Roosevelt which would amount to the concession that Roosevelt is a progressive or that would commit him to the alternative
of accepting Roosevelt as the progressive candidate in the alternative.

That from the first he found evidence that Roosevelt was using him
as a barometer of public sentiment

and was prepared to inject himself into the campaign if success seemed probable.

That Roosevelt's intimates admitted that Roosevelt was prepared to endorse Taft provided that reactionary seemed to have the ear of the people.

That when Roosevelt saw the rapid progress of the La Follette
campaign he started a surreptitious
Roosevelt boom as a backfire to check it, and secretly prepared to enter the lists.

These are statements made by Senator La Follette in his magazine article, and they are backed by evidence that is wonderfully convincing. His story shows up Roosevelt as an opportunist. We advise every reader of The Tribune who is in doubt about the facts to at once
read these articles in La Follette's magazine.

Before listening to Roosevelt's
"dog in the manger" argument, be sure there is not a "snake in the grass."

SEE WHAT WE ARE BUYING FOR 58 CENTS

La Crosse county paid $173,543.14
more taxes in 1912 than it paid in 1900. Where in the world does it go? Look at the public record:

Increase in city taxes	since 1900	$144,566.94
Increase in county taxes	since 1900	28,175.87
Increase in state taxes	since 1900	800.33

Now let's put it another way.
Take YOUR case. You pay $21 taxes on every $1,000 of your assessed property. Where does that $21 go?
Well, $16.63 of it goes to keep the city running; $3.79 of it goes to keep the county running; FIFTY-EIGHT (58) CENTS of it goes to keep the state running.

Really, aren't these gentlemen
who are worried about the "ruinous"
state taxes making a very foolish noise?

Now let's see what we are getting for our 58 cents per $1,000, which makes up the total increase of $800.33 in state taxes which La Crosse county pays. We take the annual figures for the state, and we can approximate our share of it by dividing the total by 50. La Crosse county having a population equal to about one-fiftieth of the entire state.

Saved citizens annual- ly by the 2-cent fare law	$800,000.00
Saved in freight	1,200,000.00
Railroad taxes evaded formerly	1,600,000.00
Total	$3,600,000.00

On these three items alone La Crosse county's approximate saving is $72,000, which is almost exactly equal to six times the net state taxes paid by La Crosse county this year. In other words, these three items of saving alone actually wipe out our entire state tax and leave us $60,000.00 to the good. Or put it this way: La Crosse county gets back in reduced freight and passenger fares
and additional sums pro-rated to us
from taxes now paid but formerly dodged by the railroads, six times as much as it pays in net state taxes.

As the above saving offsets all we pay in state taxes, any other state service we get now but did not get
in 1900 represents a net gain to us.

For instance, the $250,000.00
state normal school didn't cost La Crosse county a cent, nor does the $50,000.00 a year spent to maintain
it, all circulating in this county, cost us a cent.

Our share of the approximately $1,500,000.00 wrested from tax dodgers by the income tax (about $15,000.00) has not cost us a farthing.

The immense financial saving wrought by the pure food commission hasn't cost us anything. (And who can estimate the saving in health, doctor bills and life itself
wrought by the department?)

The big saving to our housewives effected by the compulsory full-weight-and-measure regulations of the state cost us not a cent.

Our free tuberculosis sanitarium
costs us nothing.

Our saving from the operation of the workmen's compensation act, our safety appliances and sanitary factory service, saving lives, limbs,
health and millions in doctor and lawyer fees and loss of time to laborers, costs us nothing.

Our protection against extor-tionate public service rates reached through the rate commission costs
us nothing.

Our state university, with recent investments in buildings and equipment and its use for our boys and girls cost us nothing.

Our splendid $60,000.00 state
capital building costs us nothing.

The above items give some general idea of what we are getting for that "increase in the state tax" of which
La Crosse county's share is $800.33.

What citizen of La Crosse county who owns $1,000.00 worth of property on which he pays taxes is unwilling to pay 58 cents a year for all this?

California paper wants to know
the feminine of "boss." Well, in the average household "boss" is a feminine.

HE COMES UP SMILING

Copyright, 1912, Merrill Co.

Maine is a prohibition state, but the Watermelon had been there before and knew just where and how to obtain what he was looking for.
With the bottle in his pocket, he sought the beach and made his way up it to some secluded place where he could drink in peace and out of the heat of the sun. A sea-gull flew wheeling gracefully by to the distant cliffs, the waves, long, pur-
ring, foam-flecked, ran indolently
up the gleaming sands, broke with a gurgling splash of seaweed and tumbled stones and ran back to meet the next one. The ocean stretched limitless before him and behind rose the rocks, hiding him
completely from the sight of land.
With a grunt of dissatisfaction, he sat down and drew the cork of the whisky bottle.

As the day advanced, the sun
crept around the headland until it streamed unchecked upon the Watermelon, sprawled, drunk and warm and dirty in the lee of the rocks. The combined heat of the sun and the poison he had in him,
called by courtesy whisky, grew unbearable, and he rose in drunken majesty to find some cooler place.
The sun would soon have thrown long shadows on the beach, but the Watermelon could not wait for that.
He must get cool at once, and in
the waves splashing, gurgling,
laughing, breaking at his very feet,
he found a suggestion. Where could one get cool if not in the sea itself? A steam yacht far away like a streak of white, was seen creeping slowly landward, but the Watermelon did not trouble about such a thing. He began to undress, solemnly, stubbornly, with the one thought to get cool.

The yacht, Mary Gloucester, was a gay little bark, all ivory white and shining brass work. A brightly striped awning covered the deck,
there were large, comfortable chairs
with many-colored pillows and ribbons and chintz, and daintily arranged tables to assuage one's thirst
and offer cooling bodily comfort on a hot day.

The Mary Gloucester was named after a poem of Kipling's, and her owner was explaining this fact, ensconced gracefully, if solidly, in a many-cushioned chair, her feet a bit awkwardly on the rest before her, a fan in one hand and a small,
fat, white woolly dog on her lap,
his fore feet on the railing, his mouth open and his tiny red tongue
flapping moistly from between his teeth.

"Whom do you love the more,"
asked Bertie Van Baalen, "Kipling or this angel child?" and Bertie sought to pull one fluffy white ear near his hand. But the little dog snarled angrily and snapped sharply
at the hastily withdrawn fingers.

"Ah, the duckies, naughty man
shan't tease him," crooned the lady,
slapping at Bertie with the fan,
while the little dog turned again
to the sea.

"Yes, indeed, Mrs. Armitage," said Henry Bliven solemnly. "Tell us truthfully, whom do you love better, Kipling or the blessed duck-ies?"

"Do not hesitate or seek to spare
either of their feelings," urged Bertie.

Mrs. Armitage laughed, fat, contented, placid. "Oh, you silly boys, comparing a poet and a dog, a blessed little doggie."

"I know it's hard on the dog,"
agreed Henry, gracefully launching a smoke wreath upward from his fat, red lips, moist like a baby's.
"No dog would care to be compared with a thing so far beneath him as a poet, but all the same, are you a sport or an intellect?"

"An intellect?" questioned the lady, wrinkling her brows and gazing puzzled at the youth in the chair

There was a splash, a gurgle and
a horrified scream from the widow,
as with a sudden lurch of the boat,
the little dog lost his balance and
fell overboard.

"Oh, my precious, my lamb,"
cried the widow, "Bertie, save him
for me."

"Yes, yes," declared Bertie, hanging over the rail and watching the struggling dog in the water below.

"Henry," pleaded the widow, "if beside her.

"Are you, in other words," explained Henry, "of intellectual or sporting tendencies?"

"Think," warned Bertie, "before
you answer. Kipling, a great poet, author of sentiments that will stir
mankind for all ages, sentiments
that will ennoble, strengthen—"

"Do you know," confessed the widow with the gleeful naivete of a child, "I like Kipling because he's so bad. He says such wicked things." She nodded and glanced audaciously from one youth to the other.

Henry reached wearily for his glass on the table beside him and Bertie Van Baalen sighed heavily.
"You women! You make us bad.
Don't you know you do? You want us bad, so we are—anything to please you beautiful creatures."

"I don't want you men bad, just poets," explained the widow, fanning herself slowly, cheerfully.

Henry waved the digression
aside. "Now, tell us frankly, truthfully, black and blue, cross your heart, do you prefer a small, dyspeptic, overfed, snapping bundle of cotton wool which is, for the sake of euphemism, called a dog, to one of the greatest minds of the day?"

"Yes," said Bertie. "Suppose we sat here now, and you had the blessed angel, mother's pet, and one volume of Kipling complete, the only book of his in the world, and the only one there could ever be, the only book in which we could hand
on to our children and our children's children such sublime
thoughts, the only book, mind you,
and if you had to throw one or the other overboard, a piece of sticking plaster or the greatest poet of modern times, which would it be?"

"If I threw my blessed pet over,
would you go after him, Bertie?"
demanded the widow, to whose mind
a question of grave import had just presented itself. "Henry, would you? You know how I love my dainty little kitty kit, would you save him from cruel death for me? For my sake?"

"No harm," said Henry with feeling, "shall befall the angel child
while I live to protect it—her—
him."

"For your sake," said Bertie, "I would die."

"Then," said the widow placidly.
"I would sacrifice my own for the sake of posterity. For you would rescue him for me and you wouldn't an old book."

"Ah, no," protested Bertie. "That was not our proposition. Neither the book nor the latest thing in worsted—"

There was a splash, a gurgle and
a horrified scream from the widow,
as with a sudden lurch of the boat,
the little dog lost his balance and
fell overboard.

"Oh, my precious, my lamb,"
cried the widow, "Bertie, save him

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Hero

He stuttered like a motorboat
When he tried conversation.

He always seemed to be the goat
Of all the congregation.

He was as dull as Balaam's ass,
He had no sort of knowledge;

He never saw a freshman class
In high school or college.

His topknot was a fiery red,
Almost a conflagration.

In fact, it nearly scorched his head,
He was a wierd creation.

His face would stop an eight-day
clock,

He was an ugly creature.
To look at him gave one a shock,

He had no handsome feature.

But still he was a hero and
The girls did gather 'round him.

They thought that he was simply grand

And were happy that they'd found
him.

They gazed at him and sighed and
sighed,

But still it wasn't funny.
Because you see his pa had died

And left a wad of money.

A Sad Prospect

Bishop Wilson of New York said
the other day that the morality of New York politics was not all that could be desired.

"In politics, as in some lines of business," he continued, "the remark
of the very cynical young woman
holds true:

"So you are going to marry
George at last?" she said to a friend.
"What is he like?"

"He is the most upright, high-minded, honorable fellow in the world," was the enthusiastic reply.

"Goodness, my dear," said the pretty cynic, "you'd starve to death."

Bitter Disappointment

In the days when executions were still carried out in public, a servant

girl upon one occasion begged her mistress to allow her a day out, for a purpose which she did not divulge.

The lady of the house gave the required permission, and the girl accordingly went away for the day. She turned in the evening, weeping copiously.

"Why, Mary," asked her kindly mistress, greatly perturbed at the poor girl's evident distress, "what on earth is your trouble? Tell me, and perhaps I can help you."

"Oh, ma'am," blubbered Mary, "I went to see the man hanged at Salisbury, b-b-but he's been reprieved!"

Mrs. Langtry's Advice

Mrs. Langtry, in an interview in New York, urged gay clothes for American men—sky blue trousers,
red velvet coats, golden waistcoats,
and so forth—though she admitted
that the "rah-rah boy," or "trick"
hat was as gay as she could wish, and required no change.

"Gay clothes," said Mrs. Langtry,
"encourage gay thoughts—and by gay thoughts I mean wholesome, cheerful thoughts. I am a foe to dissipation or anything of that kind,
and I urge every girl to say no to the dissipated man who would marry her."

"The man a girl is obliged to stand up for before marriage, she will have to sit up for afterwards."

Land of Silk Stockings

do women's slim and supple ankles
gleam in lustrous silk as they do here."

TRIAL IS EXPENSIVE

FIRST MONTH OF DYNAMITE CASE COSTS THE GOVERNMENT CLOSE TO $20,000

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—When the dynamite conspiracy was resumed today, 255 of the government's 650 witnesses had testified at an approximate cost of $12,500 in fees. Adding to that the salaries of court officials, and the per diem of the dozens of extra bailiffs and attaches, the trial has cost the government close to $20,000 in its first month. For instance Gerald Mays, former negro janitor for the Iron Workers, was on the stand 20 minutes, but he was brought from California, and his bill was $275. Other coast witnesses have cost from $200 to $250. District Attorney Miller today began reading the five thousand letters and documents that required three weeks to identify. Handwriting experts were the last witnesses heard before the reading began.

ORDAINED PRIEST 26 YEARS AGO

Rev. Murphy of the St. James Church Has Been in Priesthood Since 1886

Monday, October 28, marked the twenty-sixth year since Rev. Ambrose Murphy of the St. James church was ordained a priest and tomorrow, November 1, marks the twenty-sixth year since he first said mass, these two anniversaries coming the same week.

Rev. Murphy was ordained a priest twenty-six years ago in Austria and after that he went to Paris where he continued his studies in theology. After returning to this country he was in charge of a church at Chipewa Falls, Wis., where he remained for about nine months after which he came to La Crosse, where he took charge of the St. James church on the north side. In January, 1913, Rev. Murphy will have been in charge of the St. James church for twenty-five years. On November 1, 1886, Rev. Murphy said mass for the first time, so tomorrow will mark the twenty-sixth anniversary of that date.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST

A Simple Remedy Beautifies the Hair, Cures Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair.

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days' treatment. O. T. Erhart.—Advertisement.

Getting it Right

The most laconic person I know of is a deaf and dumb chap who hangs about the Old Cheshire Cheese, in Fleet street. He never writes on his pad more than enough to convey his meaning. He is a good poker player, and one night he won a watch and chain from one of my young friends. The latter's father met the mute. Th deaf and dumb man produced his little pad. On it the irate father wrote, "I understand you won Bob's gold watch the other night."

The old man handed it to the mute and expected to see him give up the spoils. Nothing doing, however. Instead the mute took up the pad, wrote two words carefully on it, and returned it.

Inscribed thereon were the words: "And chain."

What He Wanted

"No sir," exclaimed the irate father, "my daughter can never be yours!"

"I don't want her to be my daughter," calmly replied the young man, "I want her to be my wife!"

"Young man, what you want more than anything else at present, is a bottle of that celebrated Gray's Yerbera Santa Cough Cure, to get rid of that fierce cough of yours. You can get it, in 50c or $1.00 bottles, and it will be a surprise to you how it will make that cough disappear. In a few days you'll be a well man. Take my advice, for I speak from experience. Good day."

PEACE NOT THING EASY TO BE WON

Army Officer Tells Madison Cadets Different Standards Delay End of Wars

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—Although international peace is a splendid aim, it is a state that cannot be arrived at within a few years on account of the many different standards of life, morally and governmental. This view was expressed by Capt. Colin H. Ball, U. S. A., commandant of cadets at the University of Wisconsin, in an address on "Peace and War" before the entire regiment yesterday afternoon. Fully 2,000 young people heard the lecture.

"In the first place," he said, "military men, knowing full well the spirit that animates them and their attitude toward war, are firmly convinced not only that the question of war as a human institution is entirely independent of the existence of armies and navies, but that armies and navies, far from being free or initiative agencies of war, are merely the tools of the war spirit existing in all civil communities, and that armies and navies being bodies whose inertia increases at least as the square of their size, are one of the surest preventions of war—not only because it is a very positive one due to the attitude of its members towards war itself."

Captain Ball said that the principle of arbitration is right, and no military man objects to it, but that it is not the court of last resorts in all subjects, and that no one believes that it will ever end war. Arbitration depends upon treaties for its binding force, and in the last analysis treaties depend on an aroused public opinion for their maintenance.

"Back of an aroused public opinion," he added, "stands the army. You have simply gone around the circle and have arrived again at the soldier, who is the final guardian of civilization and the state as a political unit."

Probably nothing disappoints a woman so much as when her worst suspicions fail to come out correctly. A woman is never willing to admit that she was in the wrong until after the man has apologized.

The suffragette bee in a woman's bonnet may be the cause of many stinging remarks.

A miserly man seldom makes any trouble for his wife because of other women.

A drowning man might grasp at a straw, but it wouldn't amount to much as a life preserver.

COP'S COYOTE A CHICKEN KILLER?

Last Thursday and Friday nights E. H. Jaekel, 722 South Sixth street, missed nine chickens. Of the balance of his flock of sixteen three were found with their heads bitten off, and four lamed, their legs broken by teeth. In the chicken yard were what Mr. Jaekel took to be footprints of a dog. He was going around swearing vengeance on some dog—he didn't know which—in the neighborhood, when the neighborhood was aroused by the news that the tame coyote belonging to Officer Sam Johnson, Sixth and Market streets, was at large.

The wolf was captured Saturday morning early when Judge Herman Langsdorf, 623 South Seventh street, opened his door and the animal flew in unannounced. Recognizing it as a wolf, the family immediately left by the nearest exit and left the coyote to solitary enjoyment of the house. Johnson was notified, and his 14-year-old son Billy went over to the house. He led the coyote home on a string.

Now Mr. Jaekel thinks he knows the identity of the thief that killed his chickens, although Patrolman Johnson says his wolf was tame and would not do such a thing. He has had the animal for three years, and it is as tame as a dog, he says. Johnson has a small dog at his home, including a groundhog, tame alligators, and rabbits as well as the alleged chicken-killing coyote.

STARS FALL ON JOB

CHORUS LADY WHO WOULD BECOME STAR THROUGH AID OF PLANETS DUPED BY "SEERS"

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Miss Lillian Howard, longed to be a star. She had been a chorus girl long enough. David K. Ross and William A. Stone, partners in the fortune telling business, were held by the police today, charged with larceny—involved are Miss Howard's jewelry, worth $3,000 and her furs, worth $1,000.

According to Miss Howard, she told the fortune tellers she wanted to be a star. They said, she declares, that they could arrange it for her by invoking the aid of the planet Mars, who is himself a star. Several trips the fortune tellers made to see Mars, according to Miss Howard. They cost her $200 each. She wanted the detectives to arrest "Planet Mars" but Officers Kelly and Trant told her they did not think they could find him in Cook county, and their jurisdiction did not extend outside its bounds.

CALLS EDUCATION BAD

PRESIDENT OF DENVER UNIVERSITY SAYS NATION WOULD SUFFER IF ALL WENT TO COLLEGE

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 31.—"The conferment of a college education upon all the young men of the country for the next decade would be one of the greatest calamities that could befall the people."

This remark was made by Dr. D. D. Phillips, president of the University of Denver.

"I mean, of course, under the present condition," Dr. Phillips declared, "where an education is considered only a means of increasing one's ability to make money. If all the youths in the country were brought to college there would be a clamor for the easy big jobs and the world would be far worse for their having gone to college."

KIDS JUGGED FOR HALLOWE'EN JOKE

Eleven Boys Placed in Cells at Central Station; Mayor Gives Strict Orders

Eleven hearts beat with trepidation, eleven silent vows of reformation were made and eleven faces went pale as 11 little urchins filed with faltering steps from among many cells at central police station yesterday up a winding iron stairway and into the court room as the result of pre-Halloween pranks calculated to rouse the ire of matured and dignified neighbors.

Persistent work on the part of the "kids" brought results that were not anticipated in the form of notification of the police station. Tuesday night Patrolman Ritter corralled the boys and placed them in cells at headquarters.

Judge Edward Cronan after giving the boys a severe reprimand, fined them each $1 and costs the total amounting to $38.50.

The boys who were arrested are: Charles Frederickson, Fourteenth and Johnson streets; Roy Frederickson, Fourteenth and Johnson streets; Elmer Lee, Sixth and Mississippi; Martin Burzinski, Fifteenth and Farnam; Fred Klick, Fifteenth and Adams; Herman Nelson, Fifteenth and Adams; Theodore Newman, Fourteenth and Jackson; Walter Karst, 1321 Jackson street; Clarence Olsen 1428 Adams; "Pussy" Plummer, Eighteenth and Jackson; George Holland, Sixteenth and Farnam streets.

Mayor John Dengler today issued a proclamation to the police instructing them to arrest all who take any part in the destruction of property on Halloween. He declares that the form of amusement which has been practiced heretofore and which is distasteful to so many citizens will not be tolerated and that severe punishment will be meted out to violators of any city ordinance.

"Kids" in every part of the city are nevertheless planning the usual celebration of the annual event.

Teaching the Young Idea

A keen eyed but obviously scantily educated mountaineer led his gawky, overgrown son into a country school house.

"This here boy's arter larnin'," he announced. "What's your bill o' fare?"

"That'll do," interrupted the father. "That'll do. Load him up heavy with trigonometry. He's the only poor shot in the family."

MOST NUTRITIOUS FOOD

SOLD IN LA CROSSE

To some La Crosse women it will be news that "Minnesota" Macaroni, besides being so delicious, is also four times as nutritious as beefsteak and six times as nutritious as potatoes.

"Minnesota" Macaroni contains more proteins than most foods and is therefore more strength giving, and it gives the body great power of endurance without overloading the stomach.

If it is served often in place of meat the whole family will be much healthier. And, besides, it will reduce the cost of living, as "Minnesota" Macaroni costs only about one cent a dish.

Try the handy "Minnesota" Cut Macaroni, which is cut into uniform pieces—it cooks more evenly and is quicker to prepare.—Advertisement.

LEMKE LEAVES FOR WATERTOWN

Pastor Successful in Five Years at Head of the German Reformed Church Here

Rev. F. W. Lemke, for five years pastor of the German Reformed church, Fourth and Market streets, left today for Watertown, Wis., where he has accepted a call. He was accompanied by his wife and their family of two sons and a daughter. Farewell services were held with the church crowded last Sunday.

Rev. Lemke has made an enviable record while in La Crosse. He came to the La Crosse pastorate March 1, 1908. The same year the church was remodeled through his efforts. The year following a $4,000 parsonage was built. In 1910 the church had become so successful that the pastor's salary was raised $120 a year. In 1911 an annex was built to the church at a cost of $1,200. This year several improvements to the property owned by the church have been carried through successfully.

In addition to improving the material condition of the church, Rev. Lemke has added 78 persons to the congregation, bringing it up to a total of about 200 members.

Discussing his removal, Rev. Lemke said today:

"I and my family dislike to leave. We have made many friends in La Crosse, and the work here is very near our hearts. But I feel that my work calls me to Watertown, where there is the same need and opportunity of building up the church as there was when I came to La Crosse."

Sick for more than a year, "Jim" Sherman, as he liked to be called, fought against death as he had fought all of his life, never giving in and he accepted defeat as he has accepted it in the past, with a smile. It was a smile that brought him wealth and personal preferment. "Sunny Jim" he has been called here among his own for many years, and his friendly grin and hearty handclasp were his trade mark here long before "allies" at the republican convention four years demanded, through "Uncle Joe" Cannon that the then congressman be elevated to the second highest office in the land.

The dead vice-president was born in this city on October 24, 1855, his father being Richard U. Sherman, noted Onondaga county editor and one of the pioneer settlers of central New York. He received his education in the public and preparatory schools in Utica, and entered Hamilton college, afterward being admitted to the bar. All his life Sherman was prominent in the affairs of Utica and Onondaga county. As head of the Utica Trust & Deposit company, he dominated the financial situation, and there were few industries in the city that he was not connected with in some way. He was for many years treasurer of the Dutch Reformed church, a trustee of Hamilton college; served as mayor of his native town; was in congress for many years and twice prominently mentioned for speaker; was delegate to nearly all of the republican national conventions since 1884, and affiliated with the Elks, Royal Arcanum, and other fraternal organizations.

Was Stand-Patter

Sherman went to Washington first as a member of the fifth congress. He was an ultra-high protectionist and his influence was always for a high tariff.

As a member of congress he ranked as a strict party man, and was always known with "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and S. E. Payne, as a "stand pater."

He was a member of the "tape worm" club which was a decided factor in preparing many of the schedules of the McKinley tariff law.

The one incident in the life of Sherman which affected him the most was when he was defeated by Col. Roosevelt for the chairmanship of the republican state convention held in Saratoga Springs in September, 1910. Up to that time, Sherman and Col. Roosevelt had been warm personal friends. When the republican state committee invited Sherman to act as temporary chairman of that convention, he accepted, and the friends of Col. Roosevelt objected to the designation. Sherman apparently had a majority of the elected delegates behind his candidacy until President Taft permitted the intimation to go forth that he would prefer that Roosevelt have the job. The federal office holders lined up behind Roosevelt, and the friends of Sherman demanded that he pull out of the race. He positively refused. With the same smile that had marked him in all times, he declared that "even though he received only the votes of the home assembly district, he would stick to the finish," and he did. Roosevelt won easily but Sherman made no complaint, although the former friendliness between the men was thereafter conspicuous by its absence.

Sick When Nominated

When the last republican national convention was held in Chicago Sherman was sick. He had had a sharp attack of heart trouble while in the Adirondacks, but it was generally believed that he would soon get well. The New York state delegation lined up behind Sherman, so far as the organization delegates were concerned and demanded that, if the president was to have a re-nomination, Sherman should be similarly honored. This was done but the vice-president was unable to take part in the present campaign. On notification day he was hardly able to deliver his speech of acceptance and has made no public speeches since. He issued a lengthy address to the people in typewritten form a week ago, urging them to retain in office party "that had been responsible for present prosperity."

Registering Caused Collapse

The vice-president was believed to be slowly recovering until ten days ago when he insisted on getting up out of bed and going to the polling place to register. This caused a relapse and then kidney complications set in which his system, already weakened by the long illness, could not throw off.

Washington Mourns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Flags on half staff on all public buildings were outward symbols of mourning here today following the death of Vice President James S. Sherman. The senate officials were making preparation to notify all senators, waiting the wishes of the Sherman family.

President Taft definitely decided today to attend the funeral of his running mate and meanwhile is holding in abeyance his engagement to speak at Newark, N. J., on Saturday. If the funeral is held on Sunday, it is expected that the president will keep his engagement as his speech will be non-political.

That the chief executive was deeply shocked at Sherman's death was apparent when he arrived here early today.

CROWD CHEERS AS COLONEL TALKS

Roosevelt Given Ovation Lasting Forty-two Minutes at New York Speech

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Colonel Roosevelt spoke last night at Madison Square garden to 15,000 persons. They cheered him for forty-two minutes.

There was no indication throughout this storm of applause that it was anything but spontaneous. It was directed at Colonel Roosevelt himself.

Oscar S. Straus and Governor Johnson of California received a hearty welcome from the crowd, but it was Theodore Roosevelt who drew out burst after burst of cheering and shout after shout of greeting.

His speech was a plea for social justice. He argued that the issues now before the country are as vital and scarcely less critical than those in the 60's. It is the progressive party, and no other, which offers to the people of the United States relief from the tyranny of the few, he asserted.

Colonel Roosevelt was the last of the three speakers. Before him were Oscar Straus and Governor Johnson. They centered their remarks upon Colonel Roosevelt, his record and his ideas.

WINDOW SMASHER DENIES INSANITY

Declaring that she thought the "police of La Crosse are fine fellows with big hearts and no red tape about them," Window Smasher Annie, who paid this city a visit last Monday, in a communication to The Tribune today asserts that she is not insane and that it was not insanity that prompted her on her many window-smashing crusades.

"Whenever I smashed windows, I was under the influence of liquor and not insane," she said. "If you want to know my opinion," she added, "I believe that the Associated Charities is a graft." She wrote that she had been committed to an insane asylum from La Crosse county in 1904, but that she had been refused admittance to the asylum on the grounds that she was not insane. She also objected to the statement that she was formerly Mrs. Ricks. "My name is Annie Anderson nee Sweeney," she said.

The letter came from Austin, Minn.

Y. M. C. A. MAN TO TELL ABOUT BRAZIL

H. O. Hill, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Sao Paulo, Brazil, will give an illustrated lecture on "Brazil" at the La Crosse Y. M. C. A. auditorium tonight. The meeting is open to the public. Both men and women are invited. Mr. Hill is well known to the students of the middle west as the genial leader at the Geneva student conference, and he has been a power in the building up of the Y. M. C. A. in the South American republic. He pioneered a student association among the institutions of Sao Paulo, a city of 350,000 and won a position of influence in the congress of universities.

Mr. Hill is a native of Illinois and a graduate from the law department of the Wesleyan university and he was later graduated from Northwestern university. He has been employed in Brazil and his observations of conditions in that country are sure to be interesting. He addressed the members of the Y. M. C. A. last night.

"STANDING ROOM ONLY" SIGN UP

Largest Republican Meeting Held on South Side at Green Bay Hotel Last Night

"Standing Room Only" was the sign hung out at the republican meeting at Matt Wiltinger's hall at the Green Bay Hotel. Every chair in the hall was occupied and a large part of the crowd stood in the aisles during the speech. County Chairman J. E. Higbee addressed the crowd on state issues for nearly three hours and the interest in his discussion of the position of the republican candidates for the legislature toward labor was so intense that not a man left the hall during the speech.

Otto M. Schlabach, candidate for district attorney, and Judge C. L. Baldwin spoke at a large meeting at Larson's Coulee last night. Several of the candidates for county office attended the rally. The hardest fought battleground of the campaign perhaps is the Barre Mills district. Three meetings have been held by each of the parties and at least one more will be held in that village. O. M. Schlabach and Judge Baldwin will speak at a rally there tonight.

Congressman John J. Esch today began the windup of his campaign in the district by invading La Crosse county. He spoke at a large meeting in Sparta last night and will address a meeting in Tomah tonight. Mr. Esch will speak at the Concordia hall and at Fjelstad's hall on the north side tomorrow evening. He will close his campaign at a meeting in the La Crosse theater Monday night at which he and Assemblyman J. E. McConnell will be the speakers.

STUDENTS VISIT THE PLOW WORKS

The commercial geography class of Mrs. Margaret Cavanaugh, consisting of about twenty-two young men and women of the high school, visited the La Crosse Plow works on Monday morning. The object of the trip was to give the students an object lesson in their work. It took about two hours for the trip through this immense concern but the time was well spent, as the benefit obtained from seeing how the many different farm implements are manufactured was essential to the course.

The superintendent and other employees of the plant took pains to explain very fully the many different steps from the raw material to the finished product in the manufacture of machinery. The students were required to write a theme for the next day on the trip and it was pleasing to note how they took notice of the many small operations as well as of the larger ones. They all did not realize up to now the large proportions of this plant and all expressed a feeling of pride that their city has such a large and prosperous industry. The students and teacher all heartily expressed their thanks to their escort through the plant for the kindness and courtesy shown them on the expedition.

MISSISSIPPI GETS ROUGH

Coming to La Crosse in their launch to visit friends here Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Roof and daughter and son, of Brownsville, planned to return to their home Tuesday but on that day the river was so rough that Mr. Roof thought the trip too dangerous for his wife and daughter and they went home by train. Mr. Roof and his son started on the trip to Brownsville but the water was so rough that the launch was almost capsized several times. They finally camped over night at Willow Island near Running Slough and did not return to Brownsville until Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

DAVIS SAYS HE IS FOR LABOR

Takes Issue With Higbee; Declares County Chairman Is Unfair

DEFENDS KNEEL'S RECORD

Reiterates Charge of Extravagance Against Republicans; Asks Explanations

R. W. Davis, candidate for state senator, spoke at the island street school house to a packed house, last evening and made another speech at Kabat's hall.

He said in part:

"I was amused at the statements of Mr. Higbee in The Tribune last evening assuming to state my position on labor legislation. While reading that article, I could not help but feel that Mr. Higbee at this time was merely trying to get the votes of the laboring men regardless of the method. It seemed to me that Mr. Higbee realized that the various candidates for whom he spoke were doomed to defeat, on their record, and that he is making one last effort to get the labor votes away from us. He virtually charges the democratic legislative candidates with being enemies of labor. I carried a union card while Mr. Higbee was still wearing his baby clothes, and I have been, and still am in the ranks of labor, working and standing for the cause of labor.

"Furthermore, Mr. Higbee had no right to assume that I was opposed to laws protecting labor as provided by Chapters 49 and 470, laws of Wisconsin. I am very much in favor of giving to laborers every kind of protection possible to prevent injuries to them. It is not fair on the part of Mr. Higbee to appeal to the people's prejudice or to make them believe that I am owned or controlled by 'big corporations.' In fact I can truthfully say that my opponent in his legal business represents more corporations than I ever did. I do not hold this against him, and ask no votes on this account, but simply wish to say that in political campaigns, we have a right to fair treatment.

"By reading that article, one would also reach the conclusion that our assemblyman from Bangor, Mr. Kneel, has worked against the cause of the laboring man.

Record Open Book

"Mr. Kneel's legislative record is an open book, and everybody knows that he does not have to make any apology for that record. I know personally that Mr. Kneel's charge against Mr. Kneel that he is an enemy of labor is untrue in every respect, and that Mr. Higbee cannot assume, in behalf of his candidates, that they are the only ones who are in favor of proper laws in behalf of labor. Mr. Kneel is just as anxious to see that persons injured in their employment receive proper compensation as is either Mr. Bosshard or Mr. McConnell. In fact he thinks that the amount which is given to an employee who is seriously injured, is entirely too small, and that this is a serious defect in the law passed by the last legislature. I also know that Mr. Kneel objects to the method of the enforcement of the principle of this law. The democrats offered an amendment to this law, which would place the enforcement of the law in the hands of the officials of every county, who are familiar with the conditions of the factories, and also who know the laborers employed in these factories, and who could see to it that the law was properly enforced. This method would not only be more effective, as to the enforcement of the law, but would also do away with a large sum of money which is expended by the state under the provisions of the present law. This method of enforcing the principle of this law would do away with a large army of officials, who at the present are appointed by the governor and this commission, resulting in this unnecessary expense to tax payers.

Boost For Hood

"I am sure also that my friend Mr. Hood is in favor of the principle of these laws and if sent to the legislature, would be able to frame an amendment so that the method of enforcement of the law, would be more simple and more effective to the laboring men and less expensive.

Mr. Davis further said that he would like to have Mr. McConnell and Mr. Bosshard explain why they were so solicitous in trying to pass the law extending the waterways commission. Mr. Davis asked, "Can it be denied by Mr. McConnell and Mr. Bosshard that they were trying to get this law passed, merely to give Judge Reid a job."

He declared that he would like to have Mr. McConnell and Mr. Bosshard explain why they voted in favor of an appropriation of $47,000 a year for five years, or $235,000 dollars to purchase about 138 acres of land belonging to Mr. Olin and Mr. Rayner, about one and one-half miles from the city of Madison, when this property had been assessed under the supervision of the state tax commission, at the small sum of $22,000.

A. C. Wolfe and O. R. Skaar spoke at Rhodes' hall at Barre Mills last night to a large crowd and J. L. Utermoehl, W. F. Wolfe and Mr. Davis spoke at Kabat's hall, Tenth and Hood streets. About thirty-five men were present at the meeting. The democrats will hold meetings at French Island Shooting park, Centennial hall and the Sand Lake Cou-

ADVISE CENTRAL RURAL SCHOOLS

Committee Headed by President Cotton Declares Against Isolated Buildings

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 31.—Abandon the isolated district school, and establish a modern, properly equipped, hygienic central school is the program set for Wisconsin rural school districts by the committee of fifteen appointed by State Superintendent C. P. Cary to study the rural school problem. In a bulletin which went to the printer today, a sub-committee on consolidation, consisting of President F. A. Cotton of the La Crosse state normal school, Professor M. V. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin, and State Rural School Inspector W. E. Larson reviews the whole subject of consolidation, and relates the history of the movement in other states.

By consolidation is meant the uniting of two or more schools into one. As a rule the distance children are transported to school does not exceed five miles under this plan. The ideal country school is held to be a complete central school in each township, to which all the children in that territory shall go. Some consolidated schools nearly approach this ideal.

On this subject the bulletin says: "It should have a kindergarten, eight grades, and a high school for a four year course. It should be the center for the township library, lecture courses, musical programs and other means for making country life more attractive and educational. Manual training and domestic science are essential. Consolidation permits better grading and insures the enrollment of a larger percent of pupils and a better attendance. It also lengthens the school term, secures a more efficient teaching corps, and lengthens the time of service of such teachers. It insures better buildings and equipment and quickens interest in the schools. The larger boys and girls are kept in school longer and it enables hundreds who could not otherwise have done so to take advantage of a high school course. It gives opportunity for thorough work in special branches, enables young people to stay on the farms, and furnishes many of the advantages of city schools and none of the disadvantages of city life. It creates wider circles of friendships and refines social life."

There are a large number of consolidated schools in Wisconsin now, but the number is small compared with that in some other states, notably Indiana. The bulletin will be illustrated with pictures of typical rural schools and examples of consolidation.

WISCONSIN TO GO REPUBLICAN

County Chairman Higbee Predicts Victory for the State and National Tickets

MAKES TRIP IN THE EAST

Attends Meeting of County Chairmen in Milwaukee; McGovern Endorsed

That Wisconsin will be found in the republican column on November 5, 1912, in both national and state tickets, and that the republican majority will be fully as large as it was at the last election, is the confident prediction of County Chairman J. E. Higbee who returned from a trip through the eastern part of the state Tuesday. Mr. Higbee also attended a meeting of the county chairmen of the state in Milwaukee while he was on the trip.

"The most encouraging reports are being received at the state republican headquarters in Milwaukee," said Mr. Higbee today, "and I believe the reports are founded on facts. I visited several of the cities in the eastern part of the state and the air is full of politics. Democratic stock has gone down. The state party's attack on the progressive legislation in this state has reacted not only on the state ticket but on the national ticket. I expect the republican ticket elected from president down. Karel will poll a much smaller vote in Milwaukee county than he would have three weeks ago and with the shrinkage in the Karel vote the Wilson vote will suffer. I can't see any reason to believe that Wisconsin will be found anywhere but in the republican column this year."

Resolutions commending Governor McGovern for his statesmanlike administration were adopted at the meeting of the county chairmen as follows:

"Whereas, the democratic state candidates were nominated by the reactionaries of both parties and now receive the active support of the special interests, their advocates and representatives comprising the same class of people who supported David Rose in his fifth campaign against Robert M. La Follette for governor of the state, and

"Whereas, in keeping with the methods always pursued by the foes of popular rights they are endeavoring to capitalize the prejudices of the people and coin the same into votes for the reactionary candidates by wilfully and knowingly misrepresenting the facts regarding the cost of progressive state government, and the history and effect of the income tax law, and

"Whereas, the cost of state government during the last democratic administration, from 1891 to 1895, increased out of all reasonable proportions as compared with either preceding years or succeeding years, notwithstanding the panic of 1893 reduced price of commodities and labor to a minimum, indicating what may be expected from that source, and

"Whereas, the democratic state platform is totally barren of one signal affirmative proposition for the improvement of industrial and economic conditions except the plank relating to water power which was drafted by the attorney for the water power interests of the state and correctly reflects the capacity of the reactionaries for constructive statesmanship, and

"Whereas, the republican party in Wisconsin has fulfilled every platform pledge, safeguarded the interests of the people, forced the special interests to yield to government control and regulation, compelled public service corporations to bear their just share of the cost of government, forced tax dodging holders of large fortunes to disclose the amount of their incomes and admit to reasonable taxation, enacted laws in the interest of agriculture and labor in harmony with the spirit of the times, placed the state finances on a sound and equitable basis, eliminated graft from every source and department, and, in short, accomplished more for the well being of its citizens through the exercise of appropriate powers of government than any other state in the union, and

"Whereas, the expense of state government to the tax payers of the state during the year 1912 was less than 40 cents on a thousand dollars of valuation, notwithstanding the great work performed on the part of the state for the benefit of the citizens of the state in protecting them from the oppression and wrongful practices of corporate power, and

"Resolved, that we, the republican chairmen of the various counties of the state do condemn the false and unfair representations of the democratic state candidates relative to the income tax, state finances and commissions as unfair to the voters of the state, and be it further

"Resolved, that we heartily commend Governor Francis E. McGovern for his statesmanlike administration of his office during the past two years and the republican party for its record of 'promises performed.'"

"Be it further resolved, that we commend the progressive records of every candidate on the republican state ticket and pledge our united effort to secure an overwhelming endorsement on November 5."

6 MILLION DEFAULTER GONE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Although Central office men searched the French liner Niagara at quarantine today they failed to find trace on board of Nester Wilmar of Ghent, Belgium, wanted by the Belgian authorities for defaulting with railroad bonds valued at $6,000,000. The pursuer of the steamer said that a man answering the description of the wanted embezzler boarded the vessel at Havre and was found to be missing when the liner was two days out. Whether he jumped overboard when he learned the authorities were after him, or quietly slipped ashore just before the steamer left port was not known.

The man who thinks twice before he speaks realizes that it is better to leave a thing unsaid than to try to unsay it.

Alcohol for Boys? Go To Your Doctor

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young.

Who Said Corns?
I Use "GETS-IT!"

It Works on a Sure, New Plan.

"Glory! Come and See How GETS-IT Works!"

"GETS-IT," the new corn cure on a new principle, works like the touch of a fairy's wand. No more knives, razors, files or other instruments of torture for corn-sufferers. No more salves, plasters and bandages that hurt the rest of the toe more than they relieve the corn.

"GETS-IT" never irritates or turns the true flesh raw. It is safe as water. But my, how it does get after corns, bunions, callouses and warts. It works painlessly, but it shrivels 'em right up till they drop off, leaving the firm, healthy flesh underneath.

"GETS-IT" is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is refunded.

All druggists sell "GETS-IT" at 25 cents a bottle, or it will be sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

SHIP IS CHRISTENED

GIRL TOO WEAK AND LABORER HURLS BOTTLE OF CHAMPAGNE AGAINST BATTLESHIP'S PROW

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A husky dock worker, clad in brown dungarees, prevented the word "hoodoo" being applied to the monster fighting machine, New York, as the dreadnought was launched in the Brooklyn navy yard yesterday. And all because pretty Miss Elsie Frances Calder, did not have strength to throw the customary bottle of champagne with force enough against the vessels prow to shatter the glass.

Three times the girl threw but the blow was glancing. Then as the great hulk was slipping swiftly beyond reach she looked appealing at one of the workers on the structure above her head. Quick to act, the man hauled up the ribboned rope with which the bottle was attached to the craft, swung it high, and, with a mighty blow, spread champagne all over the bow of the craft. Christening was a success.

U. S. BALLOON WINS

AMERICAN GAS BAG UNCLE SAM LANDS IN RUSSIA 400 MILES NORTHEAST OF MOSCOW

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The America balloon, Uncle Sam, piloted by H. E. Honeywell, racing for the international cup, descended last evening, according to a message received here this afternoon at Zapadnaya, Russia, about 400 miles northeast of Moscow, beating the Picardie record.

The French Picardie, piloted by Maurice Bisnaine, covered 1,354 miles and five furlongs from Cannstatt, the starting place, and descended 110 miles south of Moscow.

Among the balloons still in the air is the Dusseldorf, piloted by John Wats, American. The German pilot of the Dusseldorf had been disqualified. He turned his balloon over to Wats, whose balloon had burst but Wats was also disqualified after his ascent on account of having filled the balloon after sunset.

TURK SPOUSE OF U. S. GIRL GENERAL

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—Richard Edward Blaque Bey, counselor of the Turkish embassy at Vienna, who was married August 24, 1911, to Miss Josephine Kalman of St. Paul, has been made general of a division of the Turkish army, according to a dispatch received from Constantinople. The news of his appointment and his probable active participation in the Balkan war, was a surprise to the Kalman family in St. Paul. C. O. Kalman, his brother-in-law, is inclined to believe that the Blaque Bey referred to is Edmund Blaque Bey, a colonel in the Turkish army, who is military attaché at Vienna and who is a brother of Richard.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

SPOTLIGHTS

With all its original attractiveness "The Spring Maid," Werba and Luescher's bubbling operatic success of two seasons, will be presented for the first time in this city at the La Crosse theater for one performance on Friday, November 1.

Heading the cast will be captivating Mizzi Hajos as the saucy little princess, supported by Charles McNaughton from the London "Spring Maid" company as leading comedian, and Cecil Ryan, the Australian baritone, as the dashing prince. Miss Hajos scored a tremendous hit in the title role last season, and local theatergoers are looking forward to a rare treat in the coming visit.

Although "The Spring Maid" has had a coast to coast triumph, this will be the first opportunity local music lovers will have to enjoy the captivating opera.

Briefly, it deals with the flirtatious love affair of the saucy princess and the gallant prince. The princess, in order to mete out a well deserved punishment to Aladar for disparaging remarks made by him of the women of her station, masquerades as a peasant girl, completely capturing his heart. When she has him head over heels in love with her she spurns him, only to learn that she herself is in love with the royal flirt.

It would be hard to find a more tuneful score than Heinrich Reinhardt has written for "The Spring Maid." It overflows with haunting melodies and waltzes. There is a lilt about its gems that proves irresistible to all who hear them. Everywhere one hears such melodies as "Day Dreams," "Two Little Love Bees," "Fountain Fay," "How I Love a Pretty Face," etc., etc., being played and sung. Through the entire action of the play little Miss Hajos flits like a joyous sunbeam, spreading happiness to all who watch her work. She seems born to the part of the piquant Princess Bozena, and fills the role with incomparable charm and sweetness.

himself through the head, during his wife's absence. It is believed he was despondent as a result of his financial troubles.

AROUSE INTREST IN THE BIG GAME

High School Students Hold Meetings Before the Fort Atkinson Contest

A monster mass meeting was held at the high school this morning in order to give the student a chance to give vent to the large amount of enthusiasm they have stored up for the game of football with the Fort Atkinson high school here Saturday. They all realize that the local team is about to tackle the toughest football proposition of the season and it will require all the support they can muster in the line of cheering to enable their warriors to come out at the long end of the score. The students to a man are behind the team and if anything they can do will help the team to bring the state championship to this city they will do it. Speeches were made, yells were given and songs which will instill all sorts of fight in a man were sung and all in all this was the liveliest mass meeting ever held. A parade will be held on the downtown streets Friday night and yells will form a distinct feature of the parade. This parade will be for the purpose of advertising the game and to arouse interest in what is regarded as the most critical contest of the year.

Coach Seiler has the men hard at work and is working them every night up to 6 o'clock. Owing to the fact that it becomes dark so quickly the men are now using a white ball which enables them to practice signals long after it is too dark to see an ordinary ball. Every man on the team is in good condition for this game and the strongest lineup that can possibly be secured will start the game on Saturday.

TO INVESTIGATE FOGEL'S CHARGES

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Replying to the assertion of President Horace Fogel, of the Phillies, that the league has no jurisdiction over his utterances, President Thomas J. Lynch said:

"Any discussion of the truth of the alleged charges is impossible, because the charges bear their own refutation on their face, and the only question now pending seems to be whether Fogel did or did not make the false statements, which have been attributed to him."

The league has engaged an attorney and according to Lynch will go to the bottom of the case.

CASE INTO CONFERENCE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 31.—After next Saturday's game here with Case, Ohio State will quit the conference and will join the western conference. Next fall, Ohio State will meet the state universities of the middle west.

HAVE DENVER MURDERER?

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31.—Denver detectives who will attempt to identify Gustav Angeles, a local barber held by the police as the brutal murderer of a woman in that city six months ago, were expected to arrive here today. Angeles today admitted coming here from Denver two weeks ago but denied he was wanted for the murder.

RIDICULES PANIC SCARE

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 31.—President Taft's "panic predictions" are ridiculed today in William J. Bryan's Commoner, which says: "Don't be fooled by the panic scare. Whatever man we name for the next president the sun will continue to shine. The panic is sort of a four year locust. It comes out of the ground about the middle of October, grows rapidly for two weeks, reaches its majority the day of election and dies the next day."

JEANNETTE NEAR DEFEAT

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Joe Jeannette had a narrow escape from being shoved off the top rung of the ladder leading to the heavyweight title, with Jim Johnson of Philadelphia, here last night. Johnson outweighed him thirty pounds and had him wobbling several times, and only Joe's ring generalship enabled him to win on points and retain his grip on the berth next to Jack Johnson's.

INTERCEPTS PASS TO BEAT AGGIES

Riebe for Alumni Runs Thirty Yards for Only Touchdown of the Game

Intercepting a forward pass and making a beautiful thirty-yard run for a touchdown in the third quarter, Riebe brought a 6 to 0 victory to the alumni eleven in the game with the Agricultural school football team. The game, which was a hard fought contest from start to finish, was played on the Aggies' grounds and was witnessed by about two hundred spectators.

During the first and second quarters both teams used old style football the greater part of the time although a few forward passes were made. Freng, Riebe and Reid carried the ball for long gains around the ends in this half of the game.

In the third quarter both teams played an open game and many forward passes were tried. It was in this quarter that Riebe made the touchdown which won the game. The alumni rushed the ball up to within a few feet of the goal during the fourth period but they were held for down.

Kinney starred for the Aggies and he made many long gains through the line and around the ends. Riebe, Freng, Winnell and Reid played great games for the alumni making long gains and breaking up their opponents' plays. Lineup:

Aggies—Left end, Brooks; left tackle, Ganz; left guard, Ahlstrom; center, Todd; right guard, Groning; right tackle, Sletten; right end, Lund; quarterback, Pertzsch; right halfback, Bellerue; left halfback, Carter; fullback, Kinney.

Touchdown, Riebe; referee, T. Johnson, La Crosse high school; umpire, Coy, La Crosse; head linesman, Ottersness; time of quarters, 15 minutes.

HARVARD IS READY FOR THE TIGERS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—With the officials of Saturday's big struggle in the stadium between Harvard and Princeton chosen, everything and everyone at Harvard is set for the first clash of the Tiger and John Harvard in years on Soldier field. With the exception of Captain Wendell, whose ankle kept him on the side lines during most of today's practice, the Crimson was fit. The time was spent on further development of the special defense and offensive plays begun Monday for the support of the striped beast from the Jersey jungle. Tickets were more plentiful this year than at any previous game, and ticket speculators have thereby been more effectively eliminated.

The Tigers are expected here tomorrow about noon. After a short drill on Soldier field, the squad probably will go to Auburndale to rest up Friday night.

Harvard will have a brief drill tomorrow, and then the men will be taken to some nearby suburb to ease down the tension before the first championship contest of the season.

JUNEAU PREDICTS BADGER VICTORY

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 31.—"We have a good team and should win. The game will be hard fought and we expect the battle of the year from Stag's men."

This was Coach Juneau's summing up today of the Badger-Maroon annual set-to on Camp Randall field Saturday. The Wisconsin gridiron director put his squad through a gruelling workout late yesterday behind locked and guarded gates and although his unqualified prediction of victory was not forthcoming today, he plainly showed confidence in the Badger machine.

The largest alumni pilgrimage and general attendance in local football history will witness the annual contest, it is indicated.

KECKIE MOLL IS PURDUE COACH

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 31.—Coach Marquis F. Horr of Purdue university's football team was summarily dismissed on Wednesday at a special meeting of the directors of the Purdue Athletic association. The dismissal of Horr was a surprise to the students. The directors charged that Purdue's poor showing this year was traceable to Horr neglecting his duties. Coach Moll will have charge of the team.

PENDLETON MAKES MOST TOUCHDOWNS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Statistics on the scoring methods of the big football eleven show that Captain Pendleton, of Princeton, leads with fourteen touchdowns to his credit. Morey, of Dartmouth, is second with twelve, and Thorpe, the famous Carlisle Indian, is third with ten. Close up to the leaders are Brickley of Harvard and De Witt of Princeton.

GUARD ON YALE ELEVEN IS DEAD

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 31.—The death of Theodore W. York of Philadelphia, a Yale sophomore, and guard on the varsity football eleven cast a decided gloom today over the whole team. York was considered of all-American material. When he left the team, it was expected he would be able to return and take part in the big games, but death came rapidly. There was little work for the squad today, neither the men nor the coaches seeming equal to the task. Saturday's game with Colgate has been cancelled.

MAY CUT PLAYERS' SALARIES IN A. A.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31.—If the American association adopts a salary limit of $1,000, which is believed to have been decided upon at a meeting of the magnates in Chicago Sunday, many players in the league will have to submit to a substantial cut in their monthly stipends next season even if the teams carry only eighteen men each and this number of uniformed players is a necessity on a club of the American association class.
